6. Bankruptcy and Conviction or Charge

- 6.1 A notary who is bankrupt may not practise as a notary on his own behalf or as the sole member of a professional partnership until he is discharged from bankruptcy, provided that this rule shall not prevent him from practising as the employee of another notary.
- 6.2 A notary who (whether in England and Wales or elsewhere) is convicted of an offence or is charged with committing an offence or who is declared bankrupt shall be under a duty, within the period of twenty-eight days following the conviction or arrest or the declaration of bankruptcy, to inform the Registrar.

7. Obtaining Instructions

A notary shall not directly or indirectly obtain or attempt to obtain instructions for professional work or permit another person to do so on his behalf, or do anything in the course of practising as a notary, in any manner which compromises or impairs or is likely to compromise or impair any of the following:

- 7.1 the principles;

- 7.5 the notary's proper standard of work;
- 7.6 the notary's duty of care to persons in all jurisdictions who may place legitimate reliance on his notarial acts.

8. Information to be provided on receiving instructions

8.1 When a notary accepts instructions from a client for professional work or changes the terms on which he is acting he must as soon as reasonably practicable provide the client in writing with:

- 8.1.1 price information in accordance with rule 8.2;
- 8.1.2 service information including a brief outline of the service the notary will be providing setting out the key stages of the work (if more than one) and the likely timescales for each key stage;

8.3 The information required to be provided by rule 8.1 may be provided to the client electronically.

8.4 Nothing in this rule shall require a notary to supply a client with the information required by rule 8.1 on each occasion where the notary is instructed by a client from whom the notary receives regular instructions or with whom the notary has a service agreement for the supply of notarial services on a continuing basis

9. Conflicts of Interest

9.1 Conflicts of Interest (General)

- 9.1.1 In the conduct of his practice a notary shall not favour the interests of one client over those of another and shall not favour his own interests or those of any other person over those of his clients.

9.2 Conflicts of Interest (Conveyancing Transactions)

- 9.2.1 A notary conducting a conveyancing transaction in the capacity of a solicitor, or a licensed conveyancer, or member of another professional body with an approved regulator, is subject to the rules and any guidance relating to (a) conflicts of interest and (b) relations with third parties laid down by the approved regulator of that professional body, and should comply with such rules and have regard to any such guidance accordingly.

- 9.2.2 A notary conducting a conveyancing transaction in the capacity of a notary must not act for both seller and buyer in a transaction relating to property situated in England and Wales unless:

- (a) the notary is satisfied that no conflict of interest exists or is likely to arise during the course of the transaction, whether or not the transaction is between parties at arm's length; and
- (b) both parties are established clients in that they have instructed the notary on previous occasions; or

- (c) the consideration does not exceed £10,000 in an individual transaction; and

- (e) both parties consent in writing.

9.2.3 For the avoidance of doubt this rule shall apply to a notary acting for one party in his capacity under rule 9.2.1 and another party in his capacity under rule 9.2.2.

9.3 Relations with third parties

9.3.1 A notary shall not communicate directly by any means whatsoever with any other party to a conveyancing transaction where that party is represented by a lawyer except:

- (a) to obtain information about the name and address (including e-mail address) of that lawyer; or
- (b) with the consent of that lawyer; or
- (c) after notifying the lawyer of the intention to contact the party direct because the other party's lawyer has refused or without good reason failed to pass on messages or to reply to communications; or
- (d) in exceptional circumstances where it is impracticable to contact that party's lawyer; provided that any communication under (a) to (d) of this rule shall be in writing.

9.3.2 A notary who is dealing with any unrepresented party to a conveyancing transaction must not take unfair advantage of that party, and where it is necessary for practical reasons to communicate orally with an unrepresented party the notary should immediately thereafter make a written note of the communication and should as soon as possible confirm the substance of it in writing to the unrepresented party.

9.4 Conflicts of Interest (notarial activities other than conveyancing transactions)

9.4.1 In respect of notarial activities other than conveyancing transactions, a notary may act for both parties to a transaction but only if:

- (a) each party has consented in writing to the notary so acting; and
- (b) the notary is satisfied that there is no conflict of interest between the parties.

- 9.4.2 For the avoidance of doubt a notary does not act for both parties to a transaction merely by preparing or authenticating a notarial act in his capacity as a public certifying officer even though that act may concern two or more parties.

10. Duty to Act Impartially in respect of Notarial Acts

A notary must act impartially and in particular must not perform any notarial act which involves or may affect:

- 10.1 his own affairs, including matters in which he is personally interested jointly with another person;
- 10.2 the affairs of his spouse or partner or a person to whom the notary is engaged to be married (for the purpose of this sub-rule, “partner” means a person with whom the notary cohabits or with whom he has a sexual relationship and includes a partner of the same sex);
- 10.3 the affairs of a person to whom he is directly and closely related;

11. Employed Notaries

- 11.1 Save as permitted by rule 11.2 a notary who is the employee of a non-notary shall not perform any notarial act as part of his employment or do or perform any notarial act for his employer or his employer’s holding, associated or subsidiary company.
- 11.2 A notary may act for a person who is also the client of the qualified legal practitioner or firm of qualified legal practitioners by which he is employed but he shall take all proper and reasonable steps in the exercise of his notarial practice to maintain his independence of his employer and in particular he shall:

- 11.2.1 ensure that his independence and integrity as a notary is fully recognised in writing in any contract of employment entered into by him; and
- 11.2.2 annually send to his employer a written statement of professional independence in a form approved by the Master from time to time, and shall declare in his application for a notarial practising certificate that he has complied with this rule.

12. Language

- 12.1 Notarial acts shall normally be drawn up in the English language.
- 12.2 A notary may upon request or in appropriate circumstances prepare a notarial act in a language other than English if he has sufficient knowledge of the language concerned.
- 12.3 A notary may not authenticate by means of a notarial act a document drawn up in a language other than English unless he has satisfied himself as to its meaning but this does not prevent a notary from authenticating the execution or signature of a document in any language.
- 12.4 A notary may not certify the accuracy of a translation that has been made by someone other than himself unless he has knowledge of the language sufficient to satisfy himself as to the accuracy of the translation but this does not prevent a notary from attesting a translator's affidavit or authenticating a verification.

13. Undertakings

- 13.1 Any notary giving an undertaking, whether oral or in writing, shall be personally liable for that undertaking, and the implementation of any such undertaking is required as a matter of conduct. Save in exceptional cases a failure by a notary to honour an undertaking will constitute Notarial Misconduct as defined in rule 2 of the Notaries (Conduct and Discipline) Rules 2015.
- 13.2 An undertaking given by a notary in writing or confirmed in writing shall be signed by the notary giving it.

14. Publicity, Websites and Third Party Intermediaries

- 14.1 A notary may advertise his practice and seek to obtain directly or indirectly clients and business in any manner and through any medium whether informative or promotional (with the exception of unsolicited telephone calls or unsolicited visits to persons or organisations) provided that:
 - 14.1.1 the principles are upheld;
 - 14.1.2 the client's freedom to instruct a qualified person of the client's choice is not thereby unduly restricted;

- 14.1.3 the notary's good reputation for integrity and professional standards of work is not thereby damaged;
- 14.1.4 he complies with any relevant non-statutory code of advertising standards and practice currently in force;
- 14.1.5 any communication in writing including by electronic means shall include the regulatory information set out at rule 8.1.5 provided that this requirement shall not extend to an entry in any directory which lists solely the name and contact details of the notary;

but nothing in this rule shall be construed as authorising the use of the word "notary" or any word designating or indicating notarial services in any publicity for activities which are not a reserved legal activity or a legal activity or otherwise of a notarial nature.

14.2 If a notary has a website any such site shall comply with rule 14.1 above and additionally shall include as a minimum the following information:

- 14.2.1 the basis upon which the notary calculates his fees for his services (price information);
- 14.2.2 a brief outline of the services the notary provides (both reserved legal activities and other legal activities) setting out the key stages of the work (if more than one) and the normal timescales for each key stage (service information);
- 14.2.3 the level of insurance which the notary carries under his professional indemnity policy (redress information);
- 14.2.4 confirmation that the notary is covered by a formal complaints procedure in the event that a client is dissatisfied with the service provided and an explanation of how to make such a complaint (complaint information); and
- 14.2.5 confirmation that the notary is 'Regulated through the Faculty Office of the Archbishop of Canterbury' (regulatory information).

14.3 Whether or not a notary has a website the information set out in rule 14.2 shall be made available in writing to a client or potential client upon request.

14.4 If a notary also practises as an authorised legal practitioner of another profession in his own account (and for some areas of his practise is regulated by another approved regulator) or is a partner, member, director, employee or consultant of a firm of authorised legal practitioners and his services as a notary are included on a website owned or managed by such a firm he must ensure that the section(s) of the site concerning the functions discharged by him as a notary comply in all respects with the provisions of rule 14.2.

14.5 If a notary opts to engage with third party intermediaries (whether online or otherwise) in order to advertise his practice or to obtain directly or indirectly clients and business or his practice it shall be the responsibility of the notary to ensure:

- 14.5.1 that the information provided by such third party intermediary is accurate and complies with rule 14.1; and
- 14.5.2 that upon receipt of any instruction received through or as a result of such engagement the client is provided with:
 - (a) the information required by rule 8.1 direct by the notary himself; and
 - (b) details of any commission, referral fee or benefit payable by or to the notary in accordance with rule 16.1 and the notary shall ensure that he and the third party intermediary comply with rule 16 in all respects

And for the avoidance of doubt the client shall at all times be the person for whom the reserved legal activity or legal activity is carried out and not the third party intermediary himself or itself.

15. Scrivener Notaries

No notary shall describe himself professionally as a Scrivener or a Scrivener notary unless he holds the qualifications to practise as a Scrivener notary from time to time prescribed by the Incorporated Company of Scriveners.

16. Introductions and Referrals

When a notary enters into an arrangement with another person for the introduction of clients to the notary or by the notary to the other person he must ensure:

- 16.1 that the client is informed in writing of the arrangement and of any commission or other benefit the notary may be receiving or pay;
- 16.2 that he either obtains the client's written agreement as to the destination of the commission or accounts to the client for the commission;
- 16.3 that he remains able to advise the client independently in accordance with these rules and continues to do so regardless of his own interests.

17. Offering Services other than as a Notary

- 17.1 Where a notary by himself or with any other person operates, actively participates in or controls any business, other than a notary's practice, the notary shall ensure:
 - 17.1.1 that the name of that business has no substantial element in common with the name of any practice of the notary;
 - 17.1.2 that the words "notary", "notaries," "attorney(s)" or "lawyer(s)" or any words designating or indicating a notarial or legal practice are not used in connection with the notary's involvement with that business;

enjoy any protection attaching to the client of a notary, and that where that business shares premises or reception staff with any practice of the notary, every customer of the business is informed in writing that, as a customer of that business, he does not enjoy the protection attaching to the client of a notary.

18.2.1 his professional partners or employer are also qualified legal practitioners;

18.2.2 the notary shall keep accounts which enable the income and expenditure arising from his practice as a notary to be distinguished from the income and expenditure arising from his practice or employment as a qualified legal practitioner; and

18.2.3 shall furnish the Faculty Office with such additional information as to his professional partnership and accounting arrangements or his employment as may be prescribed in rules or orders of the Master.

18.3 A notary who practises as such within or on behalf of a limited company or limited liability partnership may share his professional fees with, or collect them through, that company or partnership provided that the equity of that company or partnership is wholly owned by the notary or notaries who are the directors or partners of the company or partnership.

20. Investment Business

20.1 In this rule “appointed representative”, “investment” and “regulated activity” have the meanings assigned to them by the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 and the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (Regulated Activities) Order 2001 as extended by the Financial Services Act 2012
